

SensaGen

The sexual enhancement supplement for men and women.

SensaGen contains a potent combination of herbal compounds whose active constituents are known to enhance sexual desire and sexual capability in both men and women, as supported by human clinical trials. These herbal compounds have been used individually for many years by health practitioners in various countries as therapies for low libido and sexual dysfunction. In SensaGen, the synergistic effects of these herbs can help maximize, restore and prolong sexual desire, arousal and performance. In the normal aging process the decline in sex hormone levels and the declining number of sensory nerve endings in the genitalia region contribute to reduction in sex drive, arousal capabilities, climax and intensity of pleasure-full sensations. SensaGen helps combat these problems naturally, maintaining and restoring important features of your quality of life.

More specifically, Tribulus Terrestris increases blood flow to the penis and clitoris by releasing nitric oxide from the lining of blood vessels and nerves, which increases blood flow to the genitalia (this is how Viagra works – by elevating nitric oxide levels). Tribulus Terrestris can be viewed as a gentler version of Viagra in this respect, and can be used by women to heighten sexual response and sensitivity. Damiana and Avena Sativa are known to increase sensitivity of the genitalia, allowing easier and faster arousal and climax capabilities. Clinical studies indicate that Muira Puama can increase sex drive, fantasies, overall performance and satisfaction. Studies using Maca have proven its effects on enhancing libido and performance in men, and is considered by some doctors to be the Female Viagra regarding its effects on libido-enhancement in women. This product is the perfect natural solution to combat reduced sexual performance, arousal and libido problems associated with the aging process, and to supercharging an already gratifying relationship.
